The Association of Healthcare Providers - India (AHPI) is a registered not-for-profit organisation representing the vast majority of healthcare providers in India. AHPI actively promotes universal health coverage by improving the availability, accessibility, affordability, and quality of healthcare services. AHPI collaborates with stakeholders to establish a national system that ensures universal access to basic health services, supporting its members and partner organisations in implementing effective healthcare improvements. AHPI engages with various associations, accrediting bodies, regulatory agencies, research organisations, and academic institutions to address healthcare challenges. Through their 20 regional chapters, AHPI advocates for healthcare reforms, infrastructure development, taxation and tariff issues, health insurance matters, and other challenges faced by healthcare organisations and the community in delivering quality healthcare.

AHPI's comprehensive approach contributes to the advancement of healthcare in India by undertaking advocacy on key issues, fostering collaboration & capacity building, developing standards, providing training and organizing webinars, conferences & conclaves. AHPI plays a vital role in promoting quality healthcare delivery and facilitating positive change in the healthcare sector, which include focus on promotive and preventive aspects of healthcare.
